On [REDACTED] three single-engine fighters with radial engines, one biplane, and eight jet fighters with swept-back wings were standing at the southern edge of the Neubrandenburg-Trollenhagen (U 54/U 67) airfield. Because of the distance no numbers could be discerned on the jet fighters. * There was no flying between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Two details, each of 100 men, were engaged in infantry training on the landing field. The field was occupied on [REDACTED] by 10 jet fighters with swept-back wings, 4 single-engine monoplanes with radial engines, and 3 biplanes. * A group of 4 jet fighters landed at the field at 1:20 and 1:40 p.m., in good weather. Each plane was towed from the end of the runway to the parking site by a truck. Fifty-eight men were counted near the jet planes. A radio truck with two rod antennae on the rear section of the roof was seen at the field.

3. The western end of the runway was about 150 or 200 meters east of the road to Trollenhagen. There were two white flags at the western end of the runway and two red flags at the eastern end. White semicircular markings, arranged at regular intervals, were on both sides of the runway. ***

* [REDACTED] Comment. Both sources confirm the presence of Mig-15 jet aircraft. According to another source one fighter regiment is believed to be stationed in Neubrandenburg-Trollenhagen. The fighter regiment is assigned to the fighter division which is stationed in Peenemuende. The regiment is equipped with Mig-15s, ULA-7 and Yak-11 trainers, and some PO-2s.
